1. Present the Google Slide or printable worksheet to the students. As a class or in groups, have students decide which of the items at the bottom are periodic expenses. Move the pictures to the periodic expenses box and discuss why they fit in that category. Discuss with your students how periodic expenses are typically “wants” and how much you can spend depends on how fits in the budget. i.e.- you may “want” an expensive game console, but you only have enough money left in the budget in order to afford the birthday gift for your grandma this month. Prioritizing “wants” with things that come up only once in a while is still important in putting together a budget!
